Sincerely hope you are keeping well at the moment, with the current COVID 19 pandemic; self-isolating practises and social distancing. Who would have thought that the English language needed a few new words and phrases invented!

This is a time to be creative with your time and resources. Maybe try an online scrabble game with your grandkids; skype your isolated family members and neighbours, try a new jigsaw puzzle or garden project, take a walk on the Riesling and Rattler trail. Can I also suggest, that everyone keeps an eye on their neighbours, phone a friend, and generally keep in contact with your own network of friends and mates. Each day is changing, with further shutdowns and closures. Hopefully a friendly phone call from a friend or neighbour may provide support or assurance to anyone feeling vulnerable, lonely or unsure of what to do.

Rhonda Seymour, Chair.
