ACDC – Open Meeting April, Report

Welcome everyone to our beautiful historical community owned Auburn Institute building, which is the result of the 2017 Gifting by the Clare & Gilbert Valleys Council.

ACDC and its numerous subcommittees, actively continue to progress projects which support the local community and enhance our local environment.

The ACDC subcommittees have continued to operate well under the auspice of ACDC:

- U2KIDS with the inspiration and energy of the local young people and parents.
- Memorial Place subcommittee creating 'Memorial Place' on the corner of King Street and Main North Road.
- Auburn Institute Management Committee maintaining and managing the Hall for the community,
- Institute Accessible Toilet project; developing plans for renovation of the toilet area to include an accessible toilet and ambulant toilets at the hall.
- Garden Group: a team of local volunteers who work rosters to attend to Street Verge Garden beds and some park garden beds across Auburn.
- Auburn Frenchfest subcommittee having run 2 successful events and are in the very early stages of planning the third.

- The monthly community newsletter, the Auburn Express, published by ACDC for over 20 years, now distributed electronically, has increased in size and interest.

ACDC is very grateful for our community volunteers who have contributed so much through meetings, working bees, and commitment of their time and skills behind the scenes.

I would like to acknowledge the many volunteers across our community groups who operate regularly, as an active integral part to our vibrant community: CFS, CWA, Senior Citizen's, The Recreation and Caravan Park, Sporting groups (bowls cricket tennis horse riding), National Trust, Art and Craft, Auburn Primary School, Auburn Business and Tourism Association, HATs, Upper Wakefield Landcare.

A quick calculation...4 community groups, average 7 people per group, 1 meeting per month, 2 hours per meeting = 192 volunteer hours per month, plus meeting preparation, letter writing, phone calls, working bees, etc. Imagine the real number of hours volunteered in our community. Well done volunteers!

ACDC works for the Auburn Community as the Peak Body liaising with the Clare & Gilbert Valleys Council. The following tasks have been completed or currently underway.

- The recent mailing of Household Emergency Plans and creating a telephone Tree for family and friends, in the event of an emergency. This was made possible through collaboration of volunteers from Auburn, Watervale Penwortham and Leasingham, following on from locally held Red Cross Resilience Workshops.

- Our successful Council Community Asset Grant Application of $5,000 will assist with the purchase and installation of a digital community notice board. Once installed, it will be an important communication asset in our community. I take this opportunity to acknowledge the Council's grant allocations, and pass on our community's thanks for the financial support.
- Since the last Open Meeting, the community owned AED has been installed on the external wall of the Auburn Institute, due to the sale of the RSL building and changes in Legislation - for owners of buildings where an AED is located, could be fined if the AED is not properly maintained.
- ACDC is holding a Community Breakfast on Sunday 4th May, to celebrate our community and invites all to come along. This will be a free event and will include ACDC's Community Awards presentation, to acknowledge and celebrate active assistance and service to the Auburn community.
- ACDC and this community are on the cusp of being gifted and taking ownership of the old Council Chambers building (Auburn Library). Plans and negotiations for this project have consumed many hours of deliberation for all involved.
- Over the last few months ACDC has developed and submitted to Council, 7 Budget Bid Applications for Councils consideration in their new budget development process. ACDC has appreciated the opportunity to contribute to this process. ACDC's applications included: the accessible toilet at the Auburn Institute; restoration and upgrades for the old Council Chambers building (old Auburn Library); an additional Niche wall for interment of Ashes at the Auburn Cemetery; an extension of the Wakefield Riverwalk; Greening of Church St, (identified as part of the overall Auburn Streetscape plan); Council Human resources supporting communities; and the U2KIDs Bike Park project at the Auburn Recreation Park; lastly an application for funding for underground powerlines in the main street of Auburn which was submitted at the request of the interim CEO, to support Council submissions in this space. We look forward to hearing the outcome of this new process.

- Over the last two years, ACDC has experienced numerous challenges across a range of matters in working with Council. Change of Council personnel and a change to interpretation of Policy and Practice has been a source of complexity and frustration. A specific example is the disbursement of funds from sale of assets. ACDC requests that the funds from the sale of the Auburn RSL be allocated for distribution only here in Auburn, and that the expenditure of these funds will be additional to budget allocations.
- Improving the channels of communication between Council departments and Peak Bodies is a high priority for ACDC. The next Council/Peak Body forum is on 2nd June, and we look forward to engaging with Council staff and elected Counsellors on the implementation of recommended strategies to strengthen collaboration.

Auburn's History Column:

Continuing the account of the 1849-1857 Gulf Road re-enactment in the Jubilee 150 (J150) year of 1986 Very early industrial road

Historian, Mr Bob Noye of Clare, was quoted by "The Advertiser" in June, 1986 – as saying The Gulf Road was a very early industrial road, the like of which had never been seen before. "It is of great national significance," he said.

"The road was pioneered by a private company, The Patent Copper Company, which also established Port Henry, now called Port Wakefield".

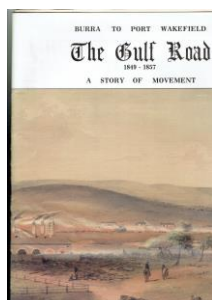

He said copper ore was shipped from Burra by bullock drays and mule teams to Port Wakefield and then by ship to England. The return trip brought coal to Burra to power the mines.

"The Patent Copper Company was very enterprising and brought out three boatloads of mules from South America," he said.

It also used unique shipping, building sailing barges modelled on Thames River barges to take the ore out to the ships anchored in deeper waters".

(It was necessary to find another form of transport than the bullock teams as they abandoned the Gulf Road to go to the gold fields interstate.

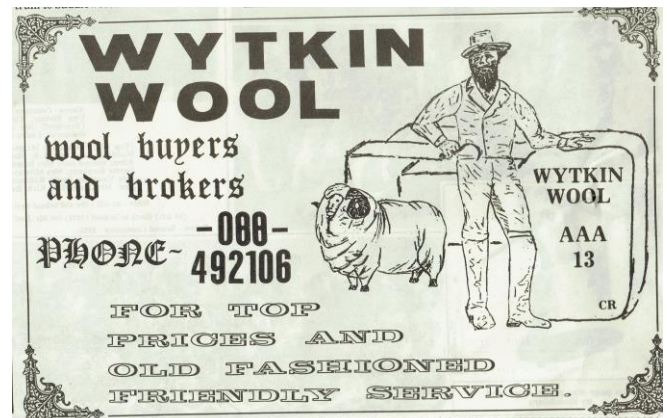

The committee of representatives planning the re-enactment also planned a publication – a Newspaper called the "The Gulf Road" – and each town needed to finance their section of how many pages they wanted to put in about historic information.

"The Gulf Road" publication front cover

Auburn area had four, two pages of Auburn history and stories with photos, an Auburn Primary School page, and then Auburn Honey Festival page. The Progress Association had decided to coincide the re-enactment with a Honey Festival, and had full support from the honey industry, financing and supplying information. Businesses of Auburn who financed our pages were Hambours (in part of now Beckers IGA), Roberts and Co (Butchers – where today's fuel bowsers are), J. E. Glover, (now Velvet and Willow), Wytkin Wool (was Parkinson's, the large shed south of the town), Tatehams Restaurant with rooms (recently Terroir), Auburn Boarding Kennels (airconditioned, Archer street), Auburn Motel (fully licensed Restaurant, meals, lunches, afternoon tea), Rising Sun Hotel (Ron and Sue Fuller), Taylors Chateau Clare Estate, Becker's SERV-WEL; and several Honey Festival related (Famers Union Pure Honey, Guilfoyle's Beekeeping equipment, Northern branch of the Apiarists Association).

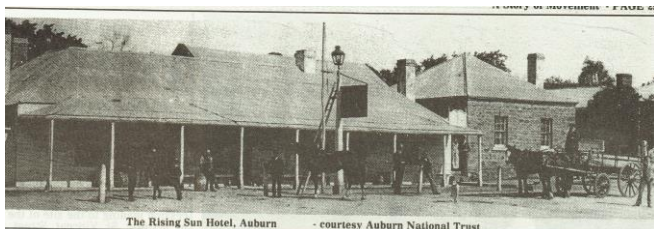

There was also a founding of Auburn article on page 10

Copy of one of the adverts, Wytkin Wool

In August the re-enactment committee helped put the paper together in the Plains Producer office of Roger Manual at Balaklava with his expert guidance. Each paper sold for $2 and the Auburn Progress Association received 50cents per copy sold in Auburn
